

ALLIES HAVE GERMAN SUBMARINE IN A TRAP OFF DOVER--French Airman Brings Down German Taube--Latest German Attacks Fail

EASTER LULL IN FIGHTING EXCEPT IN CARPATHIANS

Elsewhere On Both the Battle Fronts Is Comparative Quiet.

The Russians Are Winning In the Mountain Struggle.

(By Times Special Cable.)

London, April 6.—What has been called the Easter lull in the fighting is marred these days along both battle lines, except in the Carpathians, where the struggle for access to the Hungarian plains is still going on.

This relative quiet has given ample opportunity for the discussion by the British press of the American note in reply to the British order-in-council. The comment on this communication has been widespread. Most of its express glorification with the tone of the note, but there is great difference of opinion as to the possible results. Newspapers which from the start have advocated a formal blockade of Germany see a loophole in the note for action on the part of the British Government leading to this end, while others express the fear that a fuller understanding by the United States of the British position will lead to acquiescence to the present order-in-council.

TWO MORE VICTIMS OF THE GERMAN PIRATES

London, April 6.—The British steamer Northlands, of 2,000 tons, with 10 crew, was captured by the German submarine U-55, off Beachy Head on Monday morning.

The Northlands sank in ten minutes. The crew of 24 men were picked up later by the Belgian steamer To-pati.

GERMANS WANT ROUTE THROUGH SERBIA NOW

(By Times Special Cable.) Paris, April 6.—The real purpose of the trip to Berlin made by Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, German military advisor to Turkey, telegraphs the French Ambassador, who is covering the Balkans, of the necessity for new and more energetic attacks against Serbia under the command of General Liman von Sanders. Such an attack, the Journal's correspondent says, is considered essential by German officers in Constantinople, in order to establish communications necessary to enable them to proceed easily. Another purpose of such a move, according to the dispatch, would be to get the Triple Entente to cover the Balkan nations against the Triple Entente, that it is believed in Constantinople that the German operations have been a disappointment to partisans of the allies.

GERMAN SUBMARINE IS CAUGHT IN TRAP NET

(By Times Special Cable.) Paris, April 6.—German submarine has become second victim in a net specially designed for that purpose, invisible when it comes to the surface.

AS CANADIANS

NO ARRESTS YET

But Police Think They Will Get the Robbers.

The police have been unable to find the true man responsible for the robbery of the home of William Meyer, Napier street. A close watch is being kept on the pawn shops and second-hand stores in case they attempt to sell the jewelry that they were devoting to find out where the revolver was bought, but the only clue found was a little dog which had been in the habit of taking him to the pawn shop. Mr. C. D. R. Whitham, of the Royal Montreal Regiment, at present somewhere in Flanders. Both snipers and Private Whitham also reports that the Canadian division has certainly enough snipers to meet the Germans for their own nefarious ends. Before the contingent had even landed in France, the Canadian forces were no longer affected by the little dog which had been in the habit of taking him to the pawn shop.

NOT LINER NORTHLAND

New York, April 6.—The British steamer Northlands, sunk by a submarine in the British Channel Monday morning, should not be confused with the White Star liner Northland, which was torpedoed by a submarine according to the agents here. The Northland left Liverpool April 1 with 158 passengers for New Zealand. The ship named vessel is of 15,760 tons register and, until the outbreak of the war, was the Red Star line's New Zealand, which sailed between New York and Liverpool.

The lost men were of the crew of the schooner W. H. Smith, which pointed to the North Carolina coast. Captain Cressman is among the missing. The schooner C. Hallard was a total wreck on the North Carolina coast near Gulf Shores. Her crew were rescued.

"He will be here tomorrow," he said, "and we expect the book as our court adjourned."

MURDER OR MANSLAUGHTER?

LAWRENCE COLLON,
Charge of Criminal Negligence in Ice Boat Case Changed at Judge's Order to Manslaughter.

WM. DAVENPORT,

CHARGE OF HOMICIDE IN ICE BOAT CASE

Davenport and Callon Will Face Murder Or Manslaughter Charge.

Unexpected Development Created Quite a Sensation This Morning.

William Davenport and Lawrence Callon will appear before the Grand Jury at the spring assizes on charge of homicide—charged with having directly brought about the death of Constance Shipman.

The man answered to the name at the hearing, but this is the first time he has been charged with homicide.

Crown Attorney Washington briefly explained to his Honor Judge Salter how the two were in charge of an ice-boat, which struck Constance Shipman and Fern Massey, killing one and injuring the other. He then started to charge the men with criminal negligence, but the judge stopped him.

Mr. Salter then asked why he bring the charge?

Mr. Washington then got up a section of the criminal code, showed how the charge came under sections 247 and 261, having occasioned bodily injury to another, that they might be indicted on that.

"Turn to section 250," said his honor, "and you will find that the charge is really homicide. Now homicide is either murder or manslaughter, or criminal negligence of any person killing another person directly or indirectly. This case you have outlined to me is clearly manslaughter, so I cannot try it if it is culpable, and that means either murder or manslaughter, so I cannot try it either."

Replies to a question of Mr. Bell, counsel for the prisoners, he said if the ice boat hit her and she fell down and died within a year or a day, then it would be manslaughter.

All witnesses were told to come again.

A mild sensation was caused by the change of the charge was noticeable in the way of feeling that swept over the court. Mr. Washington was surprised at any one.

BIG MILITARY PARADE HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Col. McLaren's Command From Toronto and Col Ashton's.

The Nineteenth Will Bring Travelling Kitchen and Feed Themselves.

Despite the intimation of yesterday, that the Nineteenth Battalion, quartered at Toronto Exhibition grounds, and in which most of the Hamilton men serve under Col. McLaren, would be unable to come to Hamilton on Saturday, the commanding general of the Canadian militia, Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, has decided to go to the city Saturday.

He will make the trip, arriving in this city about noon, and taking part in a monster parade in the afternoon.

Col. McLaren was in Hamilton since yesterday afternoon, and it was he who announced that arrangements could be made to parade the soldiers on Saturday.

Gen. Currie, in this morning, and informed the members that, the regiment would bring their own portable kitchens, and attend to their own cooking. The men will be fed by the soldiers, and if put to any expense at all it will be put to pay for the Macmillan, who will feed the soldiers with a meal to this city.

It is expected that the Nineteenth will leave Toronto at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and will not take long leaving the boat soldiers will be given the noon day meal. At 2 o'clock they will march to the arena, and the soldiers will be fed by the army, who will be joined by the Thirty-ninth, who will parade from the drill hall with the Nineteenth in the principal streets of the city.

Both battalions will parade here Saturday morning, when the Nineteenth will be quartered in the new armories, and the Thirty-ninth in the old. The armories will be open to the public, and the soldiers will have their supper served up at 6 o'clock, after which they will march back to the drill hall.

The first service will be held shortly after 7 o'clock.

The Thirtieth and Ninety-first battalions will be quartered in the armories, but the bands of both will be present.

The first service will be held Saturday morning, when the band of the Thirtieth will play.

The money raised will be devoted to the general fund.

The members of the Ninety-first, who belong to the Catholic church, will attend a 9 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church, and after which the band will be present.

ABOUT LOCAL CANDIDATES.

The general public are still in the dark as to whether or not there will be a general election this year. There is no reason why there should be one. Parliament's natural term of life does not expire until next year, and it might be thought that it would be best to let it run its course. But, in view of the fact that the people's attention is engrossed by the present war, and that in the old country both parties have agreed to postpone the elections until after the war is over, should the Government decide to plunge the country into an election now, it just now would be a wise move. In view of the election, which we believe that an election just now would not be in the interests of the country, and no doubt many people would vote against the Government just as an expression of their antagonism to such a move. But there are many reasons why the Government should decide in favor of an election, and that is all that can be said of him.

THE AMERICAN NOTE.

The United States note to Great Britain made public to-day, is pretty enough, we believe that it proves somewhat severally upon the old country, when the conditions under which she is fighting is considered. The American Government, in effect, says that, because Germany is breaking international law, it is necessary to impose economic制裁. That is to say, that the altered conditions make it practically impossible to abide by the laws which Germany defies. Germany's submarine warfare makes it almost impossible for Britain to maintain an effective as the old one, and that is why the note is issued.

PUBLIC AUDITORS.

The auditors are having a hard time.

Quarantine is referred to by the Federal Auditor, General in strange terms as to who he does not know what they do, and who do their duty are entitled to receive.

A HOPELESS TASK.

(London Advertiser.)

The importance of Germany's note to establish a blockade of the British Isles, is made clear by the shipping record of the British Board of Trade. At the rate of 100,000 tons per month, Germany has about forty thousand men engaged in the work, and that they have been putting more than a century to reduce the time which the pinch would be felt by the people of England.

"BILLY'S" SUNDAY WORK.

(The Presbyterian)

R. W. A. Sunday, popularly known as "Billie," Sunday, in Philadelphia, an exchange says that the two million dollars worth of ships sent to the British Board of Trade, at the rate of 100,000 tons per month, Germany has about forty thousand men engaged in the work, and that they have been putting more than a century to reduce the time which the pinch would be felt by the people of England.

TREATED WITH CONTEMPT.

(The Presbyterian)

Incredibly was probably the first feeling of the Ontario Government's note to Britain, when the Canadian legislation was received in many quarters.

It is evident that the promises of advanced legislation would keep abreast of the world, but the greater the distance, the greater the gap between the two countries.

"An official note relates facts performed by several officers and soldiers, among them, the German cavalry, who were driven from the greater part of the country by the British."

UNDER PROTECTION.

(Ottawa Citizen)

Under the circumstances, little or no incentive to private manufacturers to make the very best quality of articles. The English or foreign manufactured article, however, is not to be despised, as it is produced by naturally living preference to be as good or better than the British or foreign goods.

The citizens of Ontario who are not prepared to buy the products of their own country, may be compelled to buy from the greater part of the country by the British."

JOB BULL'S STYLE.

If John Bull should be obliged to give up his style of war, he would be a great loss to the British Empire, but we think that he will not do so, as he is a very obstinate fellow, and nothing can be done to change his ways.

WILLARD WON TITLE FROM JOHNSON AFTER FIGHTING 26 ROUNDS

Giant Kansan Takes Champion's Best Blows For Eighteen Rounds With Courage and Gameness and Then Wore Him Down--Left to Body and Right to Jaw Restore Ring Supremacy to the White Race.

Havana, April 5.—Tonight Jess Willard, the魁梧, green-leaved Kansas farmer and cow puncher, is champion of this world, with all the world before him, while Jack Johnson, last lord of the publicistic realms, is just a portly, middle-aged colored man brawling on the memory of one of the greatest battles ever made by a fighter of his race.

One terrific left-hand smash to the pit of Johnson's stomach which crumpled the big body of the negro in grunting pain at the opening of the twenty-first round, followed by a valiant lunge later by a terrific right cleft to the jaw, and the blow that made new history in boxing, was the final blow which sent with alien tongue drowning the sound of American voices in the vast silence of Havana's arena. Johnson fell and was counted out to let Jess Jack Welch in his own corner.

TRYED TO SWAP WIFE BRIGHT OR KNOCK OUT.

He had been a hard-knocking and east wind to his wife after the twenty-fourth round to have the arena. She started a clever scheme to divide Johnson took the total blow, almost under her very eye.

For twenty-five rounds the negro had battled bitterly and bravely against his giant white opponent, urging a world of such gaudy, gaudy, gaudy, gaudy, gaudy, gaudy, gaudy, the admiration of even the sporting men at the ringside who had been watching since 1910 when he did it, and with the fight was obvious, one looked for it no soon.

MANY PRAISE JACK'S FIGHT.

To sight the town of Havana because the crowd was enormous. Johnson had quit laughing. Johnson turned and winked his eye and lifted his broad shoulders, showing off his famous old "golden smile," and then stumbled out of his corner for the twenty-sixth round.

With a roar with that lifting smash in a neutral corner, the blow driving through the negro's guard, Johnson turned and dropped both hands completely, but quickly pushed them up again. Before him the memory of that moment when he was a boy, and he had mind for the next minute seconds as he shuffled nearly around the ring and it was evident that he had lost his wallet that he was trying to avoid when he was knocked out.

THE INIMITABLE KNOCKOUT.

He stood over in Willard's corner where Willard seated as if to whip his right late again that punch could knock the man out. Johnson turned and more lowered his guard, trying to get away. The next instant the masterful gored right from Johnson's corner hit the black jaw, and Johnson dropped flat on his back without scarcely staggering.

Even Jack Welch seemed stunned with surprise when the big black topped over, but he quickly began laying his hand on Johnson's shoulder with face upturned to the sun of the dying afternoon, and just as the withering hand of the champion went down to the finish of the champion, the crowd made a wild rush for the ring.

NOT TOTALLY OUT.

Johnson did not seem to be totally unconscious, but picked up his strength. He stood over Johnson in the centre of the ring with a white towel wrapped around his black face, blinks his eyes, and then turned and went to the rear about him. Then went to his corner.

Meanwhile Willard would have been in the great sweat in his corner.

JESS WILLARD.

Who won heavyweight championship of the world when he landed haymaker on Jack Johnson's jaw in the 26th round of yesterday's battle.

But, for his great height, the big farmer grinded amably while frenzied men reached for his hand, and the last punch came across the ring with drawn sabers to retire into the ring of fighters from the crush.

Jack Curley told to Johnson's corner to take off the gloves off his hands the negro looked up, smiled fondly and said:

"How do you feel?" asked Curley. "All right," said Johnson. "Everything is all right now," he added. "I was taken care of. Tom Flanagan was he glad he had lost me? "NO, THAT'S NOT ME ALONE."

Says Jack: "Now all my trouble will be over; they will let me alone."

Johnson knew that he was gone, and the crowd the betting conditions between the twenty-first and twenty-second rounds he sent for Harry France and asked him to find Curley; afterward he told Flanagan he made a wild rush for the ring.

was getting weak and could not last much longer.

"I want you to get my wife out of here," he said.

Flanagan told him to go a few rounds more and see what he could do. But Johnson was too tired. Even though Curley was found and Johnson repeated his request to him, Curley went to the corner occupied by Mrs. Johnson, the wife of Willard's corner and told her what Jack had said. He offered to take her out and Mrs. Johnson agreed to go.

WIFIE SEES KNOCKOUT.

The twenty-sixth round had started when she arose and as she moved past Willard's corner the knockout came and her husband dropped dead at her eyes. She exclaimed, "My God!" and then disappeared in the mad crush of 10,000 persons suddenly gone.

Something approaching a race riot followed. Thousands of persons became involved, the police and the "Wise El Biscuit," while the blacks drew off in little groups.

The Cuban cavalry, which had followed the referee to Willard's corner blocked up in close formation to quell any real trouble, but the people finally got away.

When the automobiles were coming in from the track with the first news thousands of men, women and even children were shouting and cheering approval. The chauffeur who drove the first car to leave the track flew into the air, and the second car and in the other holding up a picture of Willard, while even the traffic policemen gave him a cheer.

would win inside of twenty-four rounds.

Willard's own description of the fight is about as he has recorded. He said that Johnson seemed to be in a deadly fear of another stomach punch and that the moment he got the opening of the previous round, Willard says he had intended to keep pounding away at that point up to the time he heard the referee call for a jaw.

The fight promoters are talking of a special trial to take Willard to the ring again, but he is still too sore to do much in the company of his two friends from Kansas.

PLAN TRIUMPHANT TOOK.

It was a battle of a lone black man against the world, to speak. Pat Hackett, Johnson's manager, had planned his attack with the negro's corner against him throughout, he nevertheless fought along with manly courage to the end.

Both fighters were well matched.

Willard was a big warrior. It is to be noted that he had gone back, and had laid out his corner and outrunched him all the way.

WILLARD'S CHIEF ASSET.

His enormous size gave him some advantage over Johnson, but his strength was his main asset. He fought carefully, as he said, he would not give up, but he would not give up either, he was anything but a fighter, he was a boxer.

Willard's chief asset was his custom to his opponents. He had little to say to the crowd, and whenever he did speak, he was always careful.

Willard answering in monosyllables. Only once did Jack answer a remark of Johnson's, and that was when the old "golden smile" rarely broke across his countenance.

He frequently used to apologize, and when the crowd bet on him, he would whittle attitude indicated dependence.

Johnson said to-night, he expected back to Paris and expects his interest in the pictures with bring him some income.

STATE TOTALS $160,000.

The gate receipts to-day were approximately $160,000. When the twenty-first round was being fought Jack Curley took compassion on the frenzied throng at the gates and admitted them at $1 per head, but the dollar goes to Curley from the gate.

Both fighters left the track at once and returned to their corners.

JOHNSON'S BARRY MARKED.

Willard was only slightly marked and Johnson showed as bruised of the battle.

Probably there never has been a heavyweight championship battle where advanced opinion was so generally adverse to Johnson, and the responsibility of Johnson's was largely responsible, even before it was apparent that the negro did not fit in with the weight class.

The towering giant failed for the body. Johnson dropped his guard and Willard won the title with a quick hard swing to the exact point of the battle.

NOT MUCH BETTING.

Despite this feeling, there was not much betting over the outcome, the part-mutualists being small. The track paid 5 to 6 on the negro, 5 to 4 on Willard. After the tenth round Willard was held in some telegrams to their friends in the States urging them to bid on the white man.

Despite this feeling, there was not much betting over the outcome, the part-mutualists being small. The track paid 5 to 6 on the negro, 5 to 4 on Willard. After the tenth round Willard was held in some telegrams to their friends in the States urging them to bid on the white man.

WOULD CHOOSE HOLLINGWORTH OR W. S. HARVEY

City Engineer's Recommendation for the Job of Assistant Engineer.

McKITTRICK

Controllers Appoint Committee to Go Into the Master Once Again.

There are six men left in the running for the position of assistant city engineer, and if Mr. Macaulay, the man with the shorter Hollingworth, who was recently dismissed from the position he is applying for, or W. S. Harvey, of Toronto, would get the job. To the Board of Control, this morning Mr. Macaulay, a mechanical engineer, who has applied under six names, they being E. H. Gray, W. S. Harvey and S. L. Latourelle, of Toronto; H. R. Knight of Fort William; H. D. Brown, of St. Catharines, and Willard Hollingworth. All of these men, Mr. Macaulay declared could be considered for the position.

"Is it not better to have a recommendation who would you name?" asked the mayor of Mr. Macaulay. "I am not satisfied with Hollingworth," said the mayor. "They are more suitable."

Hollingworth decided to have the six names before them, and a printed list of applicants will be forwarded to the members of the City Council to-day. It is expected that later this week the committee will be appointed.

The McKittrick bridge master was up again. W. N. Southam appeared in regard to it. A sub-committee consisting of Controllers and Mr. Hollingworth agreed to go into the matter with the idea of carrying it out the terms of the agreement.

"It will be held on the committee," advised Controller Justice to Controllers Cooper.

"We are probably harder there, and so would rather not," replied Controller Cooper.

The Board decided to go ahead with the Catharine street north, the money to be taken from the general debtors' fund. In Waterman, secretary of the Canadian Legion, and Hugo Wall were present, and urged that the paving be done.

City engineer said that $500 would be required to complete work on the Beckett drive. The Board voted $700.

On the recommendation of Controllers Cooper and Morris it was decided to deduct $25 from the street waterers' bill to help the Macmillan Street Presbyterian Church.

On application of Col. Ashton, the Board decided to pay the cost of lighting the new bridge, which will be located at the armories. Additional lights will also be installed.

A grant on account of $500 was made to the Art Gallery.

NEW PROMENADE

The Line Has Been Extended Past
the Drill Hall.

The quartering of soldiers in the old drill hall has entailed what is commonly called "The Line." Previously the "girls" and boys in the evening promenaded on James street, from Cannon to King, and then down to Catharine street, now slowly parade to Barton street mostly back and forth, but the girls are still to be seen in the girls. That they have taken a liking to the soldiers can be seen in a glance, hardly a khaki clad lad but has a girl on his arm, clinging to his arm, smiling with pride when he swells up his chest and salutes the girls.

A rather interesting scene was witnessed last evening. Three soldiers journeyed to the Peter street where they stood gazing on the corner. A colored woman came along, going steadily west on York street. The three soldiers were framed up a practical joke. One second, she, and though she did not know it, had been the target, allowed him to walk by her side. They had hardly gone any distance when the other companion rushed up to him. One, an Officer, said to the others to place him and his companion under arrest. The two soldiers, after a few moments, then with a deft movement of their hand sent the officer to the ground, and at the same time running up the street to the edification of the soldier, he said to the girl with right bears of laughter.

T. H. & B. SCHEME

City Hoping That To-morrow's Conference Will Settle It.

City Engineer Macaulay leaves this evening for Ottawa, where he will meet other engineers who will go over the plans of the T. H. & B. elevation and depression. Exceptional progress is expected at this conference, although it is to be understood that the government is to remain neutral as to the appointment of the cost.

WITNESS GONE

Warrant for His Arrest, But Once Went On.

Horatio Greenwood, porter in the Hotel de Bellevue, very inconsiderately disappeared this morning, despite the fact that he had been made star witness in the action of the Crown against him. He was a black man, charged with stealing $14, a knife, and a handkerchief from Alfred Cartwright.

He had been a witness for a few moments, then with a deft movement of her hand sent the officer to the ground, and at the same time running up the street to the edification of the soldier, he said to the girl with right bears of laughter.

NEW RECTOR

Rev. Geo. Tebb, of Orangeville, comes to St. James.

Rev. F. C. Walling, who has been rector of St. James' Anglican Church, in the far east end of the city for a short time, has accepted the end of the present month, and is to be succeeded by Rev. Geo. Tebb, of Orangeville. Rev. Mr. Walling had very recently come to the end of his work of St. James', the war and industrial depression making a change a necessity. He has been in poor health. He feels that he is not physically able to keep up the work for another year. Where his new field will be has not been disclosed.

The day he received his support, new dog tag, I. N. 1, was taken off by D. Donohoe, corner of King and Locke streets.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

Don't complain about the moisture. We need a steady warm rain to take the frost out of the ground.

Who is the Mayor going to announce clean-up?

What between trampling grape vines and cutting down rose bushes and mowing the lawn, we have to do a lot of other chores around the plantation, I feel just as tired as the proverbial hired man.

Victor Day is next on the ticket. When is he to go down? We are in a quandary in consequence of Empire Day, and I must speak to the Canadian Club about it.

I hope that Hamilton men are getting the contracts for the soldiers' lodges at the armories.

If I once begin the itchy habit I am afraid that I might forget how to walk.

I know that this attempt to create better relations between my employer and myself would end in failure.

Now, girls, don't stay late, and keep your eyes about you.

Somebody has got to run the lodges because you should stay away all the time!

Don't forget Col. McLaren and his comfort fund is still short. They will be in the trenches before long, and you should do your duty to.

East End ladies hurrah! They are having a good time.

The mobilized soldiers are a fine lot of fellows. I wonder how many there are.

I told you that the churchwardens would have another year of prosperity to record, even if we are still struggling on.

Home Chat's thought for to-day: Individuals die but the good deeds they have done to die with them, and the bad ones leave them behind.
